May 2011

"On behalf of Chemawa Indian School, we would like to thank you for taking the time to present to the students ...all of the students thought that the technology was great. They also really appreciated hearing a message from other Native Americans that are successful and who have overcome obstacles to get to where they are today".

Lights - Camera - Action!

The Media Production Center (MPC) at NIPTC houses a professional studio capable of producing training events in High Definition. Two sets and a green screen provide versatility of production while remote capabilities allow for off-site production.

The MPC is a professional three camera studio which can feature up to 4 on-camera presenters (talent) on two separate sets in High Definition format, incorporating power point graphics, lower-third titles for identification, or display of important information such as phone numbers, and web sites, switched from a professional control room.

The MPC also has a green screen capability which can essentially place the talent in any chosen setting. The green screen capability can be used with video, stills, maps or graphics.

The MPC has a teleprompter system that enables the talent to read the script off of a monitor situated directly above each of the three studio cameras. Through the use of the point maker telestrator, the talent can highlight, circle, underline or otherwise write on the displayed power point slides to emphasize data. The in-studio communication system allows communication between the control room and the studio.

For more information on the Media Production Center's services, please call 505-563-5400.
